Nobody of 16 years or more, having failed to register during national registration on August 19, 20 and 21, may hold a job in Canada. This is the effect of regulations contained in the latest extra edition of the Canada Gazette.

REGISTRATION STARTS MONDAY, AUGUST 19th

Registration of all persons over the age of 16 years will commence on Monday next and end definitely on Wednesday night, August 21st.

All persons not registered at that time will be liable to heavy penalties. Don't put it off and so cause yourself unnecessary trouble. It is your duty to register!

Registration in Blairmore will take place in the main school and a large number of registrars will be on hand to help you with your forms and to supply you with your registration certificate, which you must possess and carry on your person in future. Deputy registrars for Blairmore are: S. G. Bannan, D. MacPherson, Miss C. Fleming, J. B. Harmer, J. P. O'Neill, H. A. Ferguson, J. E. Morgan and Mrs. C. Fleming.

There will also be a number of assistant deputy registrars, so that registrations will be made with as little waiting as possible.

Advance polls have been in operation in Blairmore all this week, in the Sartoris' building at the corner of Victoria Street and Eighth Avenue, and large numbers of citizens have availed of this opportunity to complete their registration at leisure and thus relieve the burden likely to fall upon the band of registrars in the three registration days of next week.

Let all co-operate! Register as early as you possibly can.

Do not fold your registration form.

URGES MARKING ALBERTA ROADS

One outstanding need that has been shown so far this season in Alberta is that of greater marking of the highway, especially points of interest.

The particular care given to marking and mileages on the new Jasper-Banff highway should be extended to all parts of the main highway system, it is contended.

In co-operating with the provincial government in this regard, branches of the Alberta Motor Association have placed signs on numerous roads in the province, but the work is still in need of considerable expansion.

A party of visitors recently arrived in Alberta from Winnipeg and pointed out that more extensive highway marking was needed in Alberta—a province that has so much scenic beauty to talk about.

Need of adequate signing of roads has been urged upon the provincial government by the A.M.A., and officials of the government have stated that it is their intention to undertake this marking whenever the location of highways is permanently established.

Do not fold your registration card.

COWLEY HAPPENINGS

Mrs. James Irwin has returned from a motor trip to eastern Canadian points.

Miss Barbara Bundy is on a camping holiday trip in the mountains near Waterton Park with the Rigalls of the Hawk's Nest.

Mrs. Lou Lemire and her three children have gone to Macleod to visit with relatives and friends.

D. R. McIvor, of Stettler, was renewing acquaintances here on Wednesday.

Mrs. Chalfont and daughter, of Seattle, Wash., left by bus Thursday for their home, after a two months' visit with relatives and friends in Lundbreck and Cowley.

Sergt. James Lote was down from Calgary to spend a few days with his family.

Mrs. Austin Browne and son Robert, of Calgary, are paying a visit to Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Morrison and family.

Rev. W. H. Irwin, who has succeeded Rev. R. Upton of the United church at Bellevue, delivered his first sermon in the United church here on Sunday morning last. He will hold services here every two weeks.

BIG U. S. TOURIST TREK TO ALBERTA

Alberta has proved a big attraction this year to large numbers of motorists from other parts of the Dominion and also from the United States, according to reports received by the Alberta Motor Association.

Figures on registrations at national parks up to the end of July have not yet been made available, but they are expected to establish a record, despite wartime conditions.

At the parks the tourist movement has been heavy, nearly 20,000 cars having been entered up to the end of June alone.

Officials report that this year there has been a marked gain in the number of cars from the United States. Many of these have made the trip for the specific purpose of including the new Jasper-Banff scenic highway in this year's itinerary.

Recently a visitor stated, after having travelled over this road, that fully 75 per cent of the cars he met were from various parts of the United States and the states were well scattered.

This influx of visitors and the new money they bring into this province is another demonstration of the importance of developing tourist traffic, in the belief of the A.M.A. Steady improvement of highway conditions will result in still greater tourist business.

BEWARE OF BAD CANADIANS

"Beware, my friends, of those who drop Nazi or Fascist ideas into your ears, and particularly of those bad Canadians who dare argue, who dare pretend that the general mobilization for the defence of our country is not a measure of extreme emergency. One could think that those people, who evidently do not love their country, are better informed about the intentions of Germany and Italy than about the real interests of Canada, and even the United States."—Right Honorable Ernest Lapointe.

Mar Poy, aged and highly respected resident of Frank was attacked and badly beaten by an unknown assailant at his residence at an early hour of Tuesday morning. He was bound up, beaten and then robbed of his watch and about $70 in cash. When members of the R. C. M. Police arrived, he was still tied up, but not suffering much. Police are investigating. Mr. Poy is over seventy years of age, and has been a resident of Blairmore and Frank for around forty years. One of his two sons operates a restaurant at Bellevue.

NATIONAL REGISTRATION AUGUST 19th, 20th, 21st

All is set for the national registration of citizens of the Dominion. Polling divisions used at the last federal election will be used as far as possible, in fact the boundaries are the same. Copies of the Notice of National Registration are now posted up in six conspicuous places in each polling division for your guidance. Look them over.

All persons of the age of 16 years and over are required to attend the registration booths on August 19th, 20th or 21st in order to complete their registration and receive their Registration Certificates, which they will have to carry with them at all times.

In cases where a person is ill or incapacitated, the deputy registrar may send an assistant to complete the registration at that person's home. Severe penalties will be handed out to persons who fail to register, for refusal to answer any registration, for giving misleading answers, and for advising any citizen to refuse or omit to comply with the regulations or impeding any officer in carrying out the regulations.

Don't leave your registration to the last moment, as only three days are allotted for this work. If a rush occurs, there will be sufficient volunteer help to handle the crowd.

WHEN WE HAVE WON

When the war is over, I know that a new country has got to be planned. Social effort is bound to take the place of the kind of thing that occurred at the end of the last war. We cannot afford at the end of this struggle, when we have won, to leave men standing in queues at the labor exchanges without directions as to where to go or what to do.—Ernest Bavin, Britain's new minister of labor.

WHAT DO THESE WORDS MEAN?

Premier Aberhart closes his bitter comment on the fate of the Alberta provincial bank bill with this surprising combination of words: "We shall continue to co-operate wholeheartedly and to the fullest extent within the limits of our ability in the vigorous prosecution of the war for liberty, justice and fair play against selfishness, lust and paganism wherever they are found." Will some one of the very capable, unpaid editors of The Albertan, who frequently defend or explain the Premier, please tell us what that noble-sounding sentence really means, and explain with whom "we" have co-operated, or with whom "we" will continue to co-operate, or what the Alberta government has done in the vigorous prosecution of the war. There is not much that a province by itself can do, except keep down the expenditure to the lowest point and work in harmony with the Canadian Government.—W. M. Davidson, in Calgary Albertan.

HELP THE REGISTRATION

There are many ways in which you can help the work of national registration. First, of course, register—and register early.

It is anticipated that eight million people will register during the three days—August 19, 20 and 21. That is not quite twice the number who polled their votes in the last election, but it's fairly close to it.

Perhaps the deputy registrars in your territory could use your services. You might help on the day of registration.

It ought to be a matter of honor in this particular district to have the registration as full and complete as possible.

Nazi airmen bombed a Welsh golf links last Sunday. And wasn't it just like them to go away without replacing the divots.—Ex.

BELLEVUE HAPPENINGS

Mr. and Mrs. James Tutt, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. W. Smithson and Jean, returned Sunday from a two weeks' holiday spent at the coast.

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Ritchie, Betty and Alan, left Sunday on a two weeks' vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Haysom returned Sunday from a three weeks' holiday spent at Vancouver.

Mrs. T. Smith and son Wallace returned Friday from a holiday spent at Creston.

Bramwell Goodwin, accompanied by Charles Bloomfield, of Calgary, left by auto last week on a vacation to be spent at Vancouver.

Miss Jessie Radford, after spending a month at her home here, returned to Winnipeg on Friday last.

Mrs. G. K. Sirett and daughter Hilda spent a few days in Calgary last week.

Miss Isa Penman, who has been on vacation since the end of the school term, returned home on Saturday.

Misses Jean Youngberg, Charlotte Stauch and Helen Kubasek are spending two weeks in camp at Waterton.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Amos and family, of Cadomin, are visiting with the former's mother here. Stan spent the week end trying to land some of the big fish at the North Fork.

Fred Turner, of Ottawa, is spending a vacation at his home here.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Serra have taken up residence here. They have just returned from Calgary, where Mr. Serra attended summer school.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Young are business visitors to Vancouver.

Mr. and Mrs. William Goodwin returned last week from their vacation. Misses Grace Alexander and Alice Tape returned over the week end from their vacation spent at the coast.

Members of the Blairmore branch of the Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L., were guests of the Coleman branch on Friday evening last, when a presentation was made to Comrade Fred Founds, who expects to leave shortly to join the home guard. Fred is quite an artist, and recently completed some paintings depicting the British flag, bulldog, airplanes, forts, ships, etc., in both the Coleman and Blairmore clubrooms.

BREAD helps keep Canadians fit FOR PRESENT-DAY EMERGENCIES

LIFE TODAY calls for energy and vitality. And bread supplies one-fourth of the food energy of Canadians!

In fact, bread should be the basic food in the diet of every Canadian whose work calls for quick or sustained energy.

Bread is unusually rich in carbohydrates and, with its modern milk formula, is a source of protein equal to meat in muscle building and repair.

Bread tempts and satisfies your appetite—makes you more fit for present-day emergencies. Eat more of it!

YOUR BAKER'S SKILL, scientific equipment—and the finest ingredients—give you a loaf unsurpassed in wholesomeness and delicious flavor.

Calling A Big Bluff

The Nazi claims of invincibility are pure and unadulterated bluff, despite what has happened to Poland, Denmark, Norway, the Netherlands, Belgium and France. Those countries were already defeated before a single Nazi bomber flew over their soil to massacre defenceless women and children or before a single trooper goose-stepped upon their territory.

The subjugation of those nations can be attributed solely to the clever use of Hitler's mystery weapon, the so-called "Fifth Column" and its activities, designed to pave the way for subsequent military occupation. This weapon is a two-edged sword and is all the more dangerous because it is undetected until the victim has been stabbed in the back. If its presence is revealed in time and the character of the people who employ it is understood, the weapon is no more dangerous than a toy dagger of paper mache.

Fifth Column activity, as conducted under the aegis of Herr Doktor Goebbels is advisedly termed a two-edged sword. Its purpose is to convince those who might be capable of resisting Prussian domination with the belief that Germany is only seeking her rightful place in the world and that she has been badly treated and to convince the cowardly that it is useless to resist the might of Germany, by employing the myth of German invincibility.

Now this is a very ingenious weapon to employ, if the victims against whom it is used are apathetic or tolerantly complacent. If, however, they are on the alert to recognize it whenever and wherever it may be unheeded and to combat it instantly, it is immediately robbed of its lethal powers. Unfortunately, the nations to which reference has been made, did not recognize it for what it was, nor did they endeavor to thwart it until its deadly poison had undermined the people and rendered them an easy prey for the final and openly military thrust.

The "Secret Danger"

The deadly nature of this "secret" weapon is well exposed in an article written by an author under the pseudonym "Runnymede" and published in The Legionary, official publication of the Canadian League of the British Empire Service League, an article which should be read by every Canadian.

The whole objective of the Nazi Fifth Column activities is to weaken and break down the morale of the nations which stand in the way of world conquest and world domination. The modus operandi, through infiltration, is to weaken the morale of the civilian population through propaganda, rumours and the circulation of lies, because, it is recognized by Hitler and his cohorts that if you "break the spirit of the civilians, you break the heart of the soldiers."

Runnymede well summarizes the cause of the defeat of Poland, Norway and what, he says: "The Nazi Fifth Column did its job effectively and with typical German thoroughness. To put it colloquially, they found within the democracies enough 'sucker-bait' in the form of potential traitors, weaklings and cowards, to facilitate their task enormously."

"In those countries which had the courage to put up a show of resistance the work of the 'Fifth Column' was reinforced by Hitler's airmen. These sadistic young brutes finished off whatever morale was left among the civilian population. Thus was the campaign completed. Thus were the hearts of the soldiers opposing Hitler's goose-stepping automatons entirely broken. They could fight the Nazis man for man; but the spectacle of their own helpless womenfolk and children being slaughtered before their eyes was too much for them."

As for the alleged "invincibility of German might," Runnymede successfully explodes the legend which the Nazi fifth columnists have been trying to build up and reveals it for the myth which it really is. He does this, not only by citing events in the first world war but in analyzing what has occurred in this war whenever and wherever the Germans have encountered British opposition on the sea, in the air or on land.

Runnymede points out that "Wherever ships and men of the Royal Navy have met the enemy, no matter how heavy the odds in the Nazis' favor, the British have either destroyed the enemy or forced him to run for cover."

Morale Is Superior

In the air, he says: "The morale of our own young fighters is better. They fly their machines; they don't see them. They do not hesitate to pit themselves against odds of five or even ten to one. They know the sort of young wash-out that is sent up against them as a bait for their fighters because their physique and training are better. They are bolder fighters, and they fly aircraft that are in every respect superior to the Nazis. One may ask what the future holds for Goering's 'knights of the air' when anything like equality in numbers is approached."

As for the much-vaunted German army Runnymede cites its failure to overthrow the British in that immortal withdrawal to Dunkerque when the British expeditionary force ought to have been destroyed but was not because they fought back. From this illustration of the "might of the German army," Runnymede justly concludes that "The Nazis are humiliated by defeating people who are beaten before the battle begins; but when they run up against soldiers who will give them a real fight, the 'supermen' are simply not in the picture. And so, the much-tooled Nazi army, the famous 'German sword,' is no more 'invincible' than that."

The whole objective of Runnymede's able article is to point out that the work of undermining the confidence and morale of the civilian population in Canada is underway, and that if the people of this country are not to be defeated it is essential that they keep their courage as high as that of the fighting troops.

"You, don't," says Runnymede, "belong to the breed which lets itself be panicked by the bluster and the bragging and the bogy-man threats of these teutonic tin-men, scarecrows and cowardly lions, by the hysterical screeches of beer-hall Napoleons. You have got lots of stuff that the Nazis don't have. The main element of that is Liberty. Fight to retain it—and you will."

Domesday Book Of Farms

Land In Britain Will Be Listed Under Three Classes

A Domesday Book of British farms is under preparation, listing them in three categories—those that are well managed, moderately and badly. Special attention will be given to those that fall in the last class. If lack of capital is the trouble, it is likely that the government will make advances for purchase of live stock or fertilizer. County committees will help to supply labor and machines.

Learning The Language

Canadian Troops Take Icelandic With Aid Of Book

Canadian troops are winning the good will of Icelanders, whose island they now guard against Nazi invasion, according to Arni Eggertsson of Winnipeg, who passed through Ottawa en route home after a visit to his native land.

Conversation between the troops and Icelanders has been facilitated by a booklet, "Icelandic for Soldiers," issued to troops by the Canadian Legion.

Eggertsson also said German "scientists" had been making survey expeditions to the island for several years, but it was discovered only recently that the expeditions were sent from the German war office.

French Vice-Chancellor

Pierre Laval Is Thoroughly Defeated By Many People

The plans being made in Vichy to "try" former Premier Daladier and a number of the members of his government for taking France into war against the Nazis, are of a sort which suggests strongly a purge and proscription list, and possibly, at the end, the shadow of a guillotine.

A leading figure among those ordering the purge is the swarthy Pierre Laval from Auvergne, who as French premier came to Washington in 1931 to talk about world conditions with President Hoover, and made a not-so-good impression on the country.

Laval, reported to be beloved of both Hitler and Mussolini, is now vice-chancellor under Marshal Petain, which means that he is the worst. He also poses as a person much injured by M. Daladier and his associates, who doubtless did have his number.

Those who detect Laval detect him thoroughly. They say he is as shifty as a moor hen and, like his name, which can be spelled from either the right or the left, veers with every wind.

Like Robespierre he is physically small and self-assertive. Like Robespierre he is a sharp-tongued, crafty and ambitious lawyer. Whether he has other characteristics in common with the terrorist from Arras is something we may learn later on—Detroit Free Press.

Wizard At Camouflage

Industrial Designer Has Had Job Reversed Since War Started

A man whose job has been exactly reversed by the war is Richard Lonsdale-Hands, managing director of a firm of pioneers in industrial design. Pre-war, he used to concentrate on making things look what they were—on turning out gas-fires that looked like gas-fires and not like fairy grottoes, and radios that looked like radios rather than like old Tudor buffets. Now he employs 600 people to make things look like what they are not. They are working 12 hours a day seven days a week on camouflage for the Government everything that might make an attractive target for the air.

Mr. Lonsdale-Hands started work when he was 12, and he says he loves it. He did take a week's holiday once, but he got so bored he vowed he'd never have another. He did not take a honeymoon when he married his pretty blonde wife. The wedding took place in his lunch hour.—London Daily Sketch.

Britain's New Purchase Tax

Imposes Levy On Almost Everything People Have To Buy

Details of Britain's new wartime purchase tax—imposing a heavy impost on practically every article—were made public in the text of the finance bill.

As presented to the taxpayers, the bill includes some articles on which the main tax of one-third the wholesale value will be reduced to one-sixth. These include such necessities as essential clothing, boots and shoes.

On all goods classed as luxuries—for garments, carpets, rugs, china, porcelain, furniture, baggage, musical instruments, radios, perfumes, toilet articles, jewelry—the tax of one-third the whole value will be collected by the wholesaler.

The new tax is estimated to bring in the treasury £110,000,000 ($489,000,000) in a full year and will be put in effect in less than two months. It does not apply to food, drink, rent and a few such articles as tobacco and petrol which are already heavily taxed.

Did Not Fool Children

Russian Teacher Stage-Managed Lesson Too Well In Poland

The Fort William Times-Journal says a story comes from Poland about a Russian school teacher who was impressing upon her pupils the non-existence of God. She suggested that they should pray for some cakes. They did, and none came. She then suggested that they should pray to Stalin for some cakes. Hardly had they uttered their prayer, when the door flew open and a man with a tray of cakes appeared. But the thing was too obviously stage-managed to fool the Polish children.

Production Higher

Production of fertilizers and fertilizer material in Canada totalled $40,302 tons during the fertilizer year ended June 30, 1939, compared with 516,459 tons in the preceding 12 months. These totals do not include calcium cyanamide, the figures of which are not available for publication.

Tells The Story

National Film Shows What Total War Means To Canadian Workers

"The Front of Steel," fourth in the series of films made by the National Film Board in co-operation with the Director of Public Information is being released in Canadian theatres. The film describes for the first time in Canada, the full implications of modern war and what Canada is doing to meet the challenge of blitzkrieg.

It shows what blitzkrieg is and how its technique was developed in Germany during the six years of Nazi rule before war broke out. In brilliant pictures never before shown in Canada, one sees the materials and tactics of mechanized war, the armored divisions in all their strength and precision, new methods of army co-operation, newly developed light and heavy tanks, new devices like flame throwers and new bodies of men like parachutists in full fighting kit.

The real story of the film is the story of what lies behind this wall of fire and steel. The most important single fact upon which depends our whole capacity to meet the new challenges is the skill of the industrial worker at his machine. The picture shows the way in which Britain and Canada have organized themselves to carry on total war and how they are pitting their industrial might and their resources against those of Germany. The story is told of the concentration of Canada's power in the conversion of industries from peace time to war time needs, the intensification of effort all along the line to turn out more engines, more tanks, more guns, more shells, more ships, more planes. It is the story of what total war means to Canada.

SELECTED RECIPES

FRESH STRAWBERRY CREAM

1½ cups crushed fresh strawberries
½ cup fruit sugar
2 to 2½ tablespoons Durham Corn Starch
Pinch salt
¼ teaspoon lemon juice
½ cup heavy cream
Split ladyfingers (optional)

Heat the strawberries and their juice to boiling point. Stir slowly into thoroughly combined sugar, corn starch and salt. Stir and cook in double boiler until thickened; cover and cook, with occasional stirring, until no raw flavor remains. Remove from heat, add lemon juice and cool. Fold in cream, whipped stiff. Pile in dessert glasses (which may, if desired, be lined with split ladyfingers). Chill. Top if desired with whipped cream and garnish with whole perfect berries.

PRUNE WHIP

1 package Orange Jell-O
1 pint hot water
¼ teaspoon salt
4 tablespoons sugar
1½ cups cooked prune pulp.
Dissolve Jell-O in hot water. Add salt and orange rind. Chill until cold and syrupy. Place in bowl of cracked ice or ice water and whip with rotary egg beater until fluffy and thick like whipped cream. Add sugar to prune pulp and fold into whipped Jell-O. Pile lightly in sherbet glasses. Chill until firm. Top with whipped cream or custard sauce. Serves 10.

No Box Cars Available

Requests Received By C.P.R. Are Far In Excess Of Supply

Far exceeding the small number of box cars available, requests from western farmers have poured into the Canadian Pacific Railway western lines headquarters for grain storage, according to the company's purchasing department.

The supply is completely exhausted and railway authorities regret the disappointment resulting from the wide publicity given the request made to them not to destroy these obsolete cars because of their potential value for grain storage and which has resulted in a flood of applications which it is impossible to fill.

Use Common Sense

Hustanton, England, with no traffic lights, no pedestrian crossings, no one-way streets, has broken all records as "the town with an 8-year-old clean accident sheet." Every Sunday at least 20,000 people pass through on their way to the coast.

Gift Of A Train

New York Paper Comments On "Little Christmas" Disasters

The New York Herald Tribune issued editorially upon "Little Christmas Among Dictators."

The gifts of silks and spices, the scordides of slaves by the tens of thousands, as practised by the kings and potentates of ancient days, were recalled by the paper as it dealt with Hitler's gift of an armored train to Mussolini upon the occasion of Il Duce's 57th birthday.

The train's batteries of anti-aircraft guns, its solid armor plating—"beneath which Mussolini may travel and dictate with all the imperial dignity of a box turtle"—were advanced by the Herald Tribune to show "that the language of sentiment is not unknown among the totalitarian."

Hitler's "touching thought" should be repaid, said the newspaper as it closed the editorial:

"One wonders what Benito's return will be—a bullet-proof glass screen through which Adolf may deliver his Reichstag speeches or, perhaps, a pair of galoshes to keep him from wetting his feet in the English channel."

Another Experiment

Professor Of Alberta University Continues Unusual Study Of Crows

Dr. William Rowan, zoology professor at the University of Alberta who has gained fame several years ago by having experimental crows fly north in the fall instead of south, is preparing to conduct another experiment along similar lines.

Dr. Rowan hopes to find out whether migration in birds is dependent upon some hormone within the bird. He plans to catch 500 crows, divide them into two groups, administer the same light treatment to one group which made his birds fly north previously, and treat the other normally.

After a summer's treatment, the birds will be released, probably late in November.

The crow traps will be placed on the tops of fence posts in the Toolid district, 40 miles southeast of Edmonton and eggs will be used as bait.

Makes Good Barometer

Wood Owl Can Be Depended On To Forecast Rain

Britons, forced to do without published weather forecasts due to wartime restrictions, found consolation in a letter to the Times received from Lieut.-Col. A. Vickers of Ashwell, Telling, Essex. He said such information could be obtained from owls.

"I have tested the honor of these excellent weather prophets for some years," he wrote, "and the conclusions are arrived at as follows: If the wood owl calls more than three times at night, rain will come within 24 hours. If the barn owl calls even once during the night it will be fine for the next 24 hours."

To argue with a fool is to prove there are two.

NEW PROPOSALS HAVE BEEN MADE TO BRITISH INDIA

London.—India has taken another step along the road toward Dominion status in constitutional changes announced by L. S. Amery, secretary for India, in the House of Commons.

To promote national unity in British India and attempt to appease the strong voice for autonomy, representatives of the different political parties will be invited to join the governor-general's executive council.

A war advisory committee will be established representative of all India's national life, including the Indian states.

The secretary for India reiterated Britain's promise of dominion status for India at the end of the war. With this promise he coupled a declaration that as soon as possible after peace is established a constitutional assembly would be convened "to revise the framework of a new constitution."

Mr. Amery expressed the British government's hope that for the period of the war all parties and interests in India would combine to co-operate in making a notable contribution to the Empire's war effort and that in the process new bonds of union and understanding would develop, paving the way "toward attainment by India of that free and equal partnership in the British commonwealth which remains the proclaimed and accepted goal of the Imperial crown and the British parliament."

The government's promise that a body representing the principal elements in Indian national life would be convened after the war to devise a new constitution was designed to appeal to the leaders of the all-India congress party, the Nationalist group which insistently has demanded a "constituent assembly" of Indians alone to decide how India should be governed.

But, while conceding that the constitution should be "primarily the responsibility of Indians themselves and should originate from Indian conceptions of the social, economic and political structure of Indian life," the government declared it could not disregard the "obligations which Great Britain's long connection with India has imposed on her."

Raiders Driven Back

Royal Air Force Again Makes Germany Pay Heavily

London.—Britain's six defenders hurled back 800 Nazi bombers and fighter planes in a great battle over the English channel during eight hours of almost constant fighting in which at least 53 German raiders were downed by the Royal Air Force.

More than 100 Nazi pilots, observers and air gunners were seen falling death in the Royal Air Force control fire. At least 19 Nazi dive bombers and 34 fighters were known to have been downed.

The Germans appeared in numbers unprecedented for the year, attacking over and over again all day long in forces of 80 each, and losing thousands if bombs. British fighter planes, meeting the greatest assault ever made on these islands, threw up for the mainland a shield which was not broken. It was their biggest loss and more than doubled their previous high of July 12 when 26 German raiders were downed.

Britain suffered, too, but she made the Germans pay heavily. Sixteen R.A.F. planes were missing while the admiralty said that several ships in the channel had received "considerable damage."

French War Guilt Trials

Just Piece Of Stage Management Says German of Gaulle

London.—Gen. Charles de Gaulle, leader of all "free Frenchmen" in a world broadcast attacked the Vichy government's "war guilt trials" at Riom as a "piece of stage management."

"The wretched people who have betrayed France by capitulating are trying to divert attention from their own crimes," said Gen. de Gaulle.

He said that "at least two" of the Vichy government leaders were responsible for French disasters on the battlefield by neglecting to prepare France for mechanized warfare.

Romania's New Law

Country Has Adopted Nazi Measures In Respect To Jews

Bucharest.—The Rumanian cabinet promulgated a new Jewish law which was a major step in this country's adoption of Nazi ideas. The law separates Rumania's 750,000 Jews in three categories:

First—Jews who have fought in the front line for Rumania, and their descendants—are accorded some of the rights of Christians. Those of this class who hold public office may keep their jobs, but no new appointments will be made.

Jews in the second and third categories—those in regions annexed to Rumania after the first Great War and those of the old Rumania who never were in active combat for the fatherland—are barred from public office, from professions "having direct liaison with the public authority," and from operating cafes, tobacco shops, movie theatres and many other enterprises.

All Jews are prohibited from owning farms or other rural lands. Those now owning such properties will lose them to the government and be recompensed with bonds. Jews in the second and third categories are barred from military service. In place of such service there will be a special tax—cash if they have it, otherwise payment in labor on public works.

Berlin.—A European continent without Jews—who would be banished to some remote part of the globe—will be one of the pre-requisites for a "German peace," Das Schwazze Korps, organ of Adolf Hitler's S.S. Elite Guard, said.

The paper in scornful language charged that the Jews, together with Britons, tried "to convert all Europe into a chaotic, blood-soaked battlefield."

It warned that Jews must pay the bill.

Food In Europe

Will Be Sufficient If Properly Distributed Opinion Of Experts

London.—The British ministry of economic warfare took issue with reports of food shortages in Germany-dominated Europe. An authoritative source says Britain has made clear to the United States that she will refuse facilities for contraband consigned to countries controlled by the Axis.

The ministry of economic warfare in what appeared to be a sharp rejoinder to the statement of John Cudahy, United States ambassador to Belgium, says that any future famine in Europe will be due to Germany providing for the rich better than for conquered peoples or to a breakdown in the German distribution machinery.

Cudahy said that 8,000,000 Belgians would be close to famine this fall unless they got foreign supplies, which the British blockade bars. In regard to food in Europe, the ministry of economic warfare said that experts believed the coming harvest ought to be adequate to prevent any general famine conditions in Germany or the occupied countries this winter.

The statement charges that harvest work has been made difficult in Holland because the Germans would not permit the Dutch to have gasoline for their tractors.

The ministry says: "If famine conditions occur in Belgium or other occupied territories it will be solely due to either German rapacity in looting stocks for the rich or the German inability or unwillingness to distribute supplies."

Wants Russia As Friend

United States Moves To Strengthen Ties With Soviet Union

Washington.—The United States, disturbed by Japan's new "greater East Asia" policy, appeared to be seeking friendlier relations with Soviet Russia.

At Tokyo, 128 members of the Japanese diet adopted a resolution urging the government to take "all available and effective measures to drive British influence from east Asia." The diet has 466 members.

After two unusually long conferences with Soviet Ambassador Constantin Oumansky within a week, Sumner Welles, acting secretary of state, said they had discussed many questions involving relations between the two countries.

The discussions, he said, had "proceeded in a friendly and constructive spirit on both sides with a view to adjusting any differences as equitably as possible."

Sunbury, England.—Because the fruit to be preserved was not grown in her own garden, a woman here had 30 pounds of sugar confiscated.

BRITAIN MAKES NEW AGREEMENT WITH DE GAULLE

London.—Prime Minister Churchill assured Gen. Charles de Gaulle, leader of Frenchmen still fighting Germany, that the British government is determined "to secure the full restoration of the independence and greatness of France" when "victory has been gained by the Allied arms."

The assurance was given in an exchange of letters which disclosed that Gen. de Gaulle had agreed to a memorandum "governing the organization, employment and conditions of service" of his forces.

The memorandum, presumably drawn up by the British government, said the French force will be used "against the common enemies" and "will never be required to take up arms against France."

The force will as far as possible "retain the character of a French force in respect to personnel, particularly as regards discipline, language, promotion and duties," the memorandum said.

It will give the priority of allocation of material brought into British territory by French forces and the British government will as soon as practicable supply the French force with additional equipment.

The memorandum said the French force will commission and operate as many vessels as it can man, allocated by agreement between the British admiralty and Gen. de Gaulle. Vessels not allocated to the French force will be available for "commissioning and operating under the direction of the British admiralty." Some might be operated under direct British control and some by other Allied naval forces.

All vessels will remain French property.

The memorandum said that Gen. de Gaulle "accepts the general direction of the British high command" and added "when necessary he will delegate in agreement with the British command immediate command of any part of his force to one of more British officers of appropriate rank."

The expense of maintaining the force will be met "in the first instance" by Britain. Sums required will be regarded as an "advance," the ultimate settlement of which will be a "matter for subsequent arrangement."

Cheese From New Zealand

London.—The New Zealand minister of marketing announced, according to a British Broadcasting Corporation report, that New Zealand had undertaken to supply at least 107,000 tons of cheese to Great Britain during the present cheese season. Last season's production of New Zealand cheese was 92,000 tons.

Italian Workers For Reich

Brennero, Italy.—The first of 30 trainloads of Italian industrial workers en route to Nazi steel mills, motor factories and chemical plants, went northward Aug. 6 through the Brenner pass to Germany. ### Will Respect Privileges

Mennonites And Doukhobors Not Compelled To Take Military Training

Ottawa.—Privileges granted Mennonites and Doukhobors in Canada in regard to military service date back into the early years of their settlement in the Dominion, and recently War Services Minister J. G. Gardiner, outlining plans for compulsory training, said the government intended to respect these privileges.

An order-in-council of 1873 dealt with Mennonites and another in 1898 dealt with Doukhobors. Both sects are against war.

However, in the House of Commons recently, members raised the question and said Doukhobors and Mennonites should be willing and ready to fight for the defence of Canada.

Mr. Gardiner said some method may be found of using the services of Doukhobors and Mennonites in the war effort.

Addition To Canadian Navy

Destroyer Margaree Will Take Place Of H.M.C.S. Fraser

Ottawa.—A new addition to the Royal Canadian Navy will be H.M.C.S. Margaree, formerly a destroyer of the Royal Navy. It was announced by Rear Admiral Percy W. Nelles, chief of the naval staff.

H.M.C.S. Margaree will take the place of H.M.C.S. Fraser, lost in evacuation operations off Bordeaux, and its complement will include surviving members of the Fraser. It will be commissioned into the Canadian navy in a ceremony at an English port in the near future.

Just A Precaution

Publication Of Canada's Monthly Trade Report Has Been Suspended

Ottawa.—Owing to the necessity of preventing information reaching the enemy regarding the movement of strategic commodities, the Dominion bureau of statistics announced it has decided publication of the monthly report of the trade of Canada should be suspended as from the issue respecting the month of April, 1940.

No Exemptions

Order-In-Council Issues New Regulations For Registration

Ottawa.—Regulations broadening and tightening national registration of all persons over 16 were issued in an order-in-council.

Exempted classes—Nuns, citizens on active service, inmates of asylums and penitentiaries—are now ordered to be registered.

Employers are required on penalty of $200 fine or three months in jail to require their employees on Aug. 21 to produce registration cards.

Employers are also required to report to the national war services department and the "nearest police officer" the name and address and occupation of any unregistered employee. The same penalty is provided for failure to carry out this instruction.

WHEAT BOARD APPLIES GRAIN DELIVERY QUOTAS

Winnipeg.—The Canadian wheat board has announced regulations governing the marketing of western Canada's 1940 grain crop. The regulations are designed "to give all producers, as far as possible, their equitable share of all the storage space that is available."

A statement issued by the board said that "first delivery quotas permitted by the board will be five bushels of wheat per seeded acre and five bushels of barley per seeded acre and five bushels of oats per seeded acre."

"These quotas are not interchangeable, that is, from a farm there may be delivered five bushels per acre of wheat, five of oats and five of barley but there cannot be substitutions of wheat for oats, or barley for oats, etc."

"These initial quotas are to be generally applied over the three provinces, but adjustments by districts may be made by the board from time to time."

The statement said that the board "does not guarantee that there will be immediate space in the country for acceptance of these quotas" but added that "as additional storage space becomes available... the quotas will be extended."

The board will issue individual farm permits through elevator companies and grain dealers. Such permits will become valid when the farmer, legally describes his farm boundaries, states he seeded acreage of wheat, oats and barley and agrees to comply with regulations issued by the board. Each grain delivery made by the producer must be recorded in the permit book.

"There will be no restrictions placed on the delivery of rye and flax seed... But the board urges that farmers deliver no more than their usual quantities of these grains," added the announcement.

Carryover of old wheat was estimated at 270,000,000 bushels at the end of July and between 20 and 25 million more bushels of Canadian wheat in the United States.

It was hoped the new regulations would avert the "possibility of a serious financial tangle due to irregular delivery." The board feared some farmers would rush their deliveries to storage while others would be unable to move even a part of their crop.

Changes Forecast

Shakeup Of German Diplomatic Staffs In Western Hemisphere Expected

Washington.—A shakeup of German diplomatic and consular staffs in the western hemisphere was forecast in reliable quarters as a result of measures adopted at the Havana Pan-American conference against "fifth column" activities.

The American foreign ministers at Havana adopted a series of measures designed to check subversive activities, one of them aimed directly at diplomatic and consular agents in Latin American countries.

Reliable sources said that German diplomats of the career type favored a withdrawal of active Nazi party members now in the diplomatic and consular service in American countries.

Appreciated By Troops

London.—British troops in the forward areas of Egypt are having some of their discomforts lightened by a fleet of mobile canteens, the British Broadcasting Corporation reported. These canteens take the soldiers, cigarettes, razor blades and soap among other things. The service is run by voluntary subscription from all over Egypt.

RUMANIA HAS TO HAND OVER MORE TERRITORY

Bucharest, Rumania.—Premier Ian Gurgutu told his countrymen Rumania must give up some territory to Bulgaria and Hungary on Hitler's orders, but warned his government would refuse Hungary's full demand for most of Transylvania.

Breaking the news to the Rumanians that their kingdom, already stripped of Bessarabia and Northern Bucovina by Soviet Russia, must suffer further dismemberment, the premier insisted Hungary at most would get only a small strip of Transylvania.

He intimated negotiations with Hungary would be long and bitter and advised both Hungary and Bulgaria—the latter a claimant for return of southern Dobruja—to be moderate in demands as the best means of preventing trouble.

In her own interest, he said, Rumania had found it necessary to follow a pro-Nazi policy—a policy that "imposes painful sacrifices."

As to Hungary he said the dispute "could be easily regulated" by the latter's acceptance of population transfers and of economic collaboration. But, he went on, if Hungary insists on territorial cession from Rumania, she must be prepared to agree to a complete transfer of minorities.

The premier explained, by referring to his recent meeting with Hitler at Salzburg, why Rumania would be compelled to give up something to Hungary. Hitler, Gurgutu said, had ordered Rumania to come to terms with both Hungary and Bulgaria, although leaving the details to the three countries directly involved.

The premier expressed confidence Bulgaria's claim on southern Dobruja would be settled "before long." While he spoke, Bulgarian and Rumanian negotiators had been scheduled to assemble at Craiova, Rumania. Despatches from there reported that although all was in readiness for the conference the conferees themselves had not appeared. Officials said they expected delegates within 48 hours.

Special Arrangement

Made With Banks In Connection With War Savings Certificates

Ottawa.—To provide Canadians with a convenient, systematic method of buying war savings certificates, the war savings committee has completed a special arrangement with Canada's chartered banks whereby clients may arrange to have fixed amounts deducted from their bank accounts at monthly intervals and used for certificate purchases.

The committee announced that new pledge forms, acceptable to all chartered banks, are now available from the various local war savings committees throughout Canada.

These forms may be filled in and sent to the bank where the applicant keeps his account. The amount stipulated in the application will then be deducted from his account on the 15th of each month and the certificates will be mailed by the war savings committee to the depositor's home address.

Norwegian Airmen

Experienced Fliers Reach Canada To Take Special Course

Toronto.—Gathered together after their escape by devious means from Norway, several score war-experienced fliers of that country arrived in Toronto to prepare for continuation of the fight against Germany.

Billeted at present at two downtown hotels, the naval and military fliers are here to take a special course in operational technique of United States bombing planes.

A number of such machines had been ordered before Norway was overrun. It is now planned to deliver them here from United States factories and Norwegian officers will fly them to England, preparatory to battle.

The group, said Captain H. Risler-Larsen, in charge of naval fliers, also will form the advance guard of a new Norwegian legion to fight beside British and Allied soldiers, airmen and sailors against the common enemy.

Seeks Further Trade

London.—Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax recently asked Sir Stafford Cripps, British ambassador in Moscow, to seek further trade negotiations with Russia as soon as possible. Richard Butler, under-secretary for foreign affairs, told the House of Commons.

A FINE EXAMPLE

Over 9,000 Canadian commercial and industrial firms have already set up the system of voluntary salary deductions to enable their employees to purchase War Savings Certificates by easy and regular instalments. The same plan has been extended to include parts of the Civil Service and government pensioners. More than 1,250,000 employees come within the scope of this plan. A large proportion have already pledged themselves to purchase War Savings Certificates in this way. In many cases the deductions are for small amounts, perhaps fifty cents or a dollar each pay day, but in the aggregate the investment of these employees in War Savings Certificates reaches an impressive sum each month.

Now, anyone in Canada who operates a bank account may emulate this fine example in practical patriotism. Every chartered bank in Canada has available a special "pledge form" to be used by depositors to instruct their bankers to purchase War Savings Certificates for them on the 15th of each month by means of automatic deductions from their regular accounts.

The applicant simply fills in this pledge and with it a relative application form for one or more certificates and hands them in to his banker. In each succeeding month the bank will purchase one or more certificates as stated in the pledge, without any further instructions or bother to the depositor. The actual certificates will be mailed to the depositor at his home address, or any other address he may designate.

Here is an opportunity for everyone to put system into his purchase of War Savings Certificates. Incidentally, it is an admirable and simple way to accumulate over the months a valuable "nest egg" of Canada's finest securities.

Canadians can now take advantage of this pledge system which is so admirably adapted to the needs of the average man and woman, and follow the lead of over one million employees purchasing through the pay deduction plan.

NEWS FROM EDMONTON

(T. B. Windross)

Edmonton, Aug. 12.—During the past week Premier Aberhart was evidently goaded into a verbal outburst after his long silence by the treatment his application for a banking charter for Alberta received at the hands of the parliamentary standing committee on banking and commerce.

And when Premier Aberhart is goaded into words, he usually picks the wrong ones. This time he was "astounded" at the treatment given his banking scheme. Most people would have been astounded if the premier had been astounded. He usually expresses himself in some such way, and usually it means simply he is as usual angry at not getting his own way.

But the really astounding thing about the premier's outburst is that he complained that the Alberta government had not been told the bill for an Alberta bank was ultra vires of the constitution before it came before the committee. If that course had been followed nobody would have been louder in their protests or have made more noise than the same Premier Aberhart. He would have proclaimed to heaven that the unfairness of the Ottawa parliament was demonstrated because no hearing was granted on the application for a bank.

The real cause of Mr. Aberhart's tirade is that his planned publicity propaganda through the hearing before the banking committee missed fire, and because of the weakness of Hon. Solon Low's presentation of the case and the strength of the opposition's argument against the bank, the whole planned scheme was a flop.

From now on it may be assumed that the issue of a provincial bank for Alberta is as dead as a doornail. Premier Aberhart knows now that such a thing is ultra vires.

Alberta farmers are expecting the largest crop of wheat in nine years, according to surveys made throughout the province during the past few days. The prospects have not been so good since 1923, when 30 bushels to the acre were harvested. Surveys this year indicate that an average of around 26 bushels to the acre will be achieved. This compares with 1931, when that amount of yield was secured.

Everywhere in the centre and north of the province the prospects are bright, with warm weather filling the grain and ripening it fast. Cutting has actually commenced in a number of places and by another week is expected to be fairly general.

Paul L. Farnalls, president of the Alberta Association of Municipal Districts, has issued a plea for support from municipal districts in Alberta who believe there is a necessity for immediate system of cash advances for grain stored in the farms to back the claims advanced on their behalf to the government at Ottawa.

Statement was issued in Edmonton after a conference with David Roberts, Fort Saskatchewan, association secretary. Mr. Farnalls made a trip to Ottawa to personally present the views of the municipalities to the government.

A letter has been dispatched to all member districts, asking for approval and prompt support for the action of the executive.

ALBERTA INTERSCHOLASTIC TRACK AND FIELD MEET

The annual provincial interscholastic track and field meet for 1940 will be held in Edmonton at the new Clarke stadium on Saturday, September 28th, and should be of interest to many boys and girls of the senior classes who may compete in sprinting, jumping, hurdles, throwing contests of the more than 45-event programme now scheduled for that day.

Boys and girls under 20 years of age are divided into various sections and full particulars and entry forms may be obtained on application to the Interscholastic Committee, Box 452, Edmonton.

FORMAL OPENING C.L.W.S. RECREATION HUT

Under a blue sky that was fleeced with towering white clouds, His Excellency the Governor-General, commander-in-chief of all the Canadian forces, paid his first visit to a military camp since his arrival in the Dominion and formally opened a Canadian Legion War Services canteen and recreation hut.

For several weeks the C.L.W.S. has had in operation at Petawawa training centre, in M.D. No. 3, a large and well-equipped establishment, catering to the needs of the men in training, and it was this undertaking that His Excellency, in the presence of officials of the organization and high ranking army officers, declared officially under way.

"One of the worst things about war is boredom," His Excellency said. "At the front the hours of suspense are often more trying than the actual moments of acute danger. In a training camp such as this, you have the long periods of work without the excitement of fighting, so it is all the more necessary that hours off duty should be relieved of boredom. For this purpose, the Canadian Legion War Services is performing a most necessary task, of which this hut is an admirable example. A man's work is far more effective if, during his leisure hours, he can find complete relaxation of mind and body."

The Governor-General, grand patron of the Canadian Legion of the British Empire Service League, paid tribute to the effort which the Legion veterans are expending on behalf of the new soldiers, "so many of whom," he said, "are the sons of men who fought so gallantly in the last war." He expressed special satisfaction that the C.L.W.S. is providing an educational programme that is enabling the men to continue or to take up studies in academics and trades to fit themselves for their return to civilian life.

"Education," he added, "is no longer regarded as a dull but necessary process which occupies our early years. We are always being educated and the older we get, the more we appreciate it. But it is particularly important for a modern soldier who has to think for himself and often has to master the intricacies of complicated machinery."

"In declaring this hut open, I want to thank all those who have been responsible for getting it going and I wish you all the best of luck."

Welcoming the Earl of Athlone was Colonel the Hon. Senator Gerald V. White, C.B.E., V.D., of Pembroke, honorary treasurer of the C.L.W.S., and Major-General John A. Gunn, C.M.G., D.S.O., V.D., of Toronto, president of the C.L.W.S. Senator White explained to His Excellency, that the Legion "is endeavoring to render assistance to His Majesty's forces through our educational, entertainment and personal service activities."

Crops in Alberta are declared to be the best in 24 years, and it is claimed the finest crops this year are in the so-called dry areas.

Hospital supplies for Canadian troops overseas are now being purchased in Canada. Formerly the medical and dental supplies for Canadian troops in England and elsewhere overseas were purchased in the United Kingdom, but with the expansion of the British army and the increased demand abroad, it has been decided that medical supplies for Canadian forces will be supplied from Canadian sources.

Enlistment of fifty recruits for the 15th Alberta Light Horse (non-permanent militia) from this district has been authorized, with J. V. McDougall and E. C. Cosstick as recruiting officers. Men are required between the ages of 18 and 35, to go to camp for two weeks in September. Recruiting took place at the Blairmore B.E.S.L. clubrooms on Wednesday and Thursday of this week, and we understand close to the full quota was realized. The draft call for 30 days of training.

HAVE WE BEEN ASLEEP?

Testing before a committee of the federal house of commons in support of Alberta's application for a provincial bank, Hon. Solon Low, provincial treasurer, said that when the Social Credit government assumed power in Alberta the treasury was empty and finances were in such shape that bond interest had to be cut. An Ontario M.P. then asked Mr. Low why, under such circumstances, did the Social Credit party promise dividends of $25 a month to every Alberta adult. Mr. Low's reply was that the Social Credit party made no such promise.

We are wondering if we have been like Rip Van Winkle, in a strange coma, during the past six years, and dreaming about a big fat man assuring every bona fide resident of this province that if he were elected to power they would each get a dividend of $25 a month. Were the radio tableaux, in which Hon. Mr. Aberhart and Hon. Mr. Manning figured so prominently, a myth of our imagination? Was the Man from Mars but a figment of a dream? What about the circulation of the blood, and the two Irishmen with the keg of beer? Was there not displayed at one time a whole array of maps and charts with an abundance of figures obtained from the Canada Year Book, and was not something mentioned at one time about a fountain pen?

Of course, the $25 monthly dividend is now a dead issue. It was buried with the prosperity certificates and the multitudinous forms which thousands of Albertans signed some years ago. It was not even resurrected at the last election. But surely Hon. Mr. Low was doing considerable quibbling when he denied pointblank that the Social Credit government ever promised a dividend.—Hanna Herald.

THE TWO ROADS

There are two methods of carrying on a war—the democratic and totalitarian. We have chosen deliberately the democratic concept. It leaves something to the individual. He still retains, in large measure, his freedom of action. He seeks the work for which he is best qualified, he directs his effort towards the things which he feels he is best fitted to do. The state, it is true, may exercise certain powers of persuasion, economic forces direct his steps, but he is drawn towards the task in which he is engaged by his personal likes or dislikes, his training, his qualifications for the work, and by the reward which he receives for his effort.

In the totalitarian state it is different. Direction comes from the central authority. Men are placed in industry. They remain there until they are called to some other task. Industry takes care of the men engaged. The pay is limited. The standard of living is low. Rationing in food, fuel, clothing, started from the beginning of the war—even earlier than that. The work is directed by the state—the state is everything, the individual is nothing.

There are advantages in both lines of approach. If the conscious effort of the nation is to be devoted at all times to the task of war, to the enslavement of men—if the individual is always to be of relative insignificance and the state alone is the sole factor, then it may be admitted that for a time at least there is greater driving force and power within the totalitarian method. But it carries with it the seed of destruction. It leaves nothing to the play of human emotions. It does not measure the desire for freedom which has always been an element in the lives of men, and always will so long as men are free.

It assumes that man is a machine, that he is capable of functioning as a machine. The tragedy of Germany is not that the people have become enslaved to a mad ideal, but that they no longer care "to cancel their own captivity."

We desire to live in freedom, to live under a democracy. We must mobilize the manpower and womanpower of the nation. That is the plan back of national registration, which opens on August 19th. It is an effort to organize on a larger scale for earlier victory than might otherwise be achieved.

Serge uniforms are being manufactured in Canada at the rate of almost 3,000 a day, boots at 4,700 pairs a day, and socks at close to 6,700 pairs daily for the army and air forces.

Certain local district parties who have become faugus through hiding away when likely to be called upon to fight fire, should be launched out and made work. It is not necessary to mention names, for they are too well known.

Candidates for enlistment in Canada's armed forces, who are citizens of a foreign country, are not now required to take the oath of allegiance provided for in the King's Regulations, if by so doing their citizenship in their own country is forfeited.

Rumors that have been heard in the west that the Ottawa government would take steps to ration gasoline for automobile use in Canada are described in an Ottawa dispatch as incorrect. Difficulties that would confront any rationing plan for gasoline in the Dominion are reported to be too many even for serious consideration of the plan.

The Alberta government has decided to waive its liens against advances on part of the crop, so that farmers may purchase binder twine and make machinery repairs for threshing. When the government last spring authorized advances for seeding operations, it took as security a lien on the crop. Now that lien is being released to enable farmers to finance operations.

HITLER'S GIFT TO ENGLAND

Hitler is providing a generous dietary to one considerable section of Holland's living things.

Dutch cattle are growing fat on tulip bulbs.

The Nazis have wiped out Holland's fields of daffodils, hyacinths and tulips. There is a ban on all bulb growing, so Dutch stocks are now being destroyed or used up for cattle feed. The cattle like tulip bulbs best.

The result is that England has just offered the U.S.A. 40,000,000 English-grown daffodil, tulip and hyacinth bulbs for $250,000.

Little Holland, in Lincolnshire, has already got 6,000 acres of bulbs. For some years now the Dutch growers themselves have come to England for the costlier specimens.

The British ministry of agriculture had ruled that not more than three-quarters of last year's bulb acreage should be sown, but the order will probably be cancelled as flower bulbs today are more valuable to England than cabbages.

Roosevelt, a great flower lover, has a magnificent display of bulb flowers at Hyde Park, his New York home.

His favorite is the tulip, with daffodils second.

The committee in charge of the War Service Fund for the Cranbrook district has decided on a definite programme to raise $6,000 for the year 1941. Part of this fund will be raised as follows: Salvation Army $1,500, Canadian Legion $800, Knights of Columbus $400 and a contingency fund of $300. The second $3,000 will be placed in the Rehabilitation Trust Fund.

Canadians generally are not looking with favor upon the military exemption extended to such religious sects as the Mennonites, Hutterites and Doukhobors, even though their entry into Canada generations ago gave them such a privilege. The fact that most of these people are of German origin of a certainty prejudices their position, to say nothing of those who are Russian. In times like these we cannot afford to continue in such foolish gestures. — Claresholm Local Press.

Stevens, who was in the hotel business at Wardner and at Morrissey Mines following the construction of the Crow's Nest railway, was back in the district recently and spent a few days visiting with his old friend, John Lawson, at Wardner. Mr. Stevens moved to Calgary, and for quite a long time conducted the Queen's hotel there. While operating this hotel, his partner was Matt Rockendorf, another Cranbrook old timer, who was a printer on the Herald when it was first established here. — Cranbrook Courier.

MANPOWER

We can estimate, as far as numbers are concerned, the manpower and womanpower of the nation. A recent speech in the house of commons gave the following figures: There are in Canada roughly 4,700,000 men and women between the ages of 18 and 44. Of these 2,400,000 are males and 2,300,000 females. Between the ages of 44 and 59 the total male population is 950,000, female over 820,000. Eliminating for the moment those of 60 years and over and those who are under 18 years of age, and in both these classes there are tremendous reserves of energy and capacity, and we have some idea of our manpower and womanpower.

There is only a quantitative analysis—it tells us the numbers involved. We must also know the experience and training of the Canadian people. Within the ranks of the nation are men capable of filling almost every position. The task of today is to search them out and find the work for which they are best qualified.

That is why we held, on August 19, 20 and 21, a national stock-taking of our human resources. It is a plain recognition of the fact that the veins of wealth do not lie in silver and gold, nor in bonds, stocks and bank balances, but in the producing power of the men and women of the nation. The mechanics of the problem are very simple. When you register you answer several questions. These answers help to measure the qualifications of the millions of men and women of the nation. The object of registration is to increase production, to mobilize the manpower and womanpower of the nation, to carry on, more efficiently than ever before, the struggle in which we are now engaged.

LETTER FROM DEPTHS OF SEA REACHES ITS ENGLISH DESTINATION

William Gibson has a souvenir which he will likely keep to the end of his days. It is the envelope of a letter he sent to friends in Northumberland, England, on May 22nd, 1940, from Drumheller. The ship on which the mail was transported was either torpedoed or sunk by having struck a mine, and stamped across the cover in typical post office stamping ink are the words, "Saved from the sea."

Although the stamps affixed to the registered letter were soaked off with salt water, the writing showing the English address was quite legible, but somewhat faded. Inside the letter Mr. and Mrs. Gibson had enclosed a number of snapshots of Drumheller and Banff, and a money order. Some of the photos had become indistinguishable, their friends had said in returning the envelope, and also some parts of the letter were undecipherable. The money order was quite readable and the party to whom it was addressed was able to cash it.

When the mail was taken from the sea it was forwarded to Liverpool, and from there it was re-registered and sent to its destination. Almost two months had elapsed from the time the letter was mailed in Drumheller until it reached its destination. The envelope certainly showed signs of having gone through a good soaking when shown to a Mail reporter, and no doubt some collector of souvenirs might be willing to pay a good price for such an authentic memento of a piece of mail which might have been completely lost in Davy Jones' locker—Drumheller Mail.

REGISTRATION STARTS ON MONDAY August 19th

Commencing Monday, August 19th, Canada calls on her citizens, 16 years of age and over, regardless of nationality, to register. Because of the magnitude of this task the Government asks those who must register to study the questionnaire carefully.

Every question must be answered truthfully and without evasion. It is imperative that every one 16 years of age and over register. You will make the whole task easier for yourself and the Government by registering early. Registration will last for three days only.

REGISTRATION DATES August 19th, 20th, 21st

EVERYONE CAN HELP—To keep the cost of this registration at a minimum the Government is asking the co-operation of all public-minded citizens in the work of registration. You can help by getting in touch with your local registration officials and offering your services.

WHERE TO REGISTER

Registration offices are being set up by electoral districts in the same manner as in the last Dominion election. Registrants are required to register in the regular polling subdivisions of their own constituencies. But should a registrant be in some other province or district out of the regular polling subdivision on Registration Day, he or she may register at any registration office convenient, upon satisfactory explanation to the local deputy registrar.

Penalty for Non-Registration—Failure to register will make any male or female, married or single, over the age of 16 years, liable to a fine not exceeding Two hundred dollars, or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding Three months, or to both such fine and imprisonment, and moreover to a further penalty not exceeding Ten dollars for each day, after the day upon which he should have registered, during which he shall continue to be unregistered.

"I wonder if you know why I sent for you?"

The question took her aback for the moment.

"Don't say to write a letter," he smiled. "I really wanted no letter written. It was an excuse to get you here alone for a little talk. And the fact that you have not gone pale and that you display no visible evidence of agitation, is very pleasing to me. If you had, I should have opened the door to you and bid you a polite good night."

He waited for her to speak.

"I don't quite understand what you want, Mr. Harlow."

"Really? I was afraid that you would—and understand wrongly!"

He strode up and down the library, his hands under his coat-tails, his head lifted so that he seemed immediately interested in the cornice.

"I want a view—an angle. I can't get that from any commonplace perspective. You are not commonplace. You are not brilliant, either—forgive my frankness. You're a woman, perhaps in love—perhaps not. I don't know, but a normal soul. You have no interest to serve."

He stopped abruptly, looked at her, pointing to the door.

"That door is locked," he said. "There is nobody in this house but myself and my housekeeper. The telephone near your right hand is disconnected. I am very fond of you."

He paused and then nodded approvingly.

"A little color—that is annoyance. No trembling—that may come later. Will you be so good as to press the bell—you will find it * * *

Mechanically she had obeyed, and almost immediately the door opened and a tall manservant came in.

"I want you to wait in the servants' hall until this young lady has gone. Thomas—I have a letter I wish to post."

The man bowed and went out. Mr. Harlow smiled.

"That disproves two statements I made to you—the door was locked and that we were alone in the house. Now I think I know you! I wasn't certain before. And, of course, I'm not fond of you—like you though. If you feel inclined to call up James Carlton, the telephone is through to the exchange."

"Will you please tell me," she said quietly, "what all this means?"

He stood by the desk now, his white fingers beating a noiseless tattoo.

"I know you, that is the point," he said. "I can now speak to you very plainly. Would you, for a very large financial consideration, marry a man in whom I am greatly interested?"

She shook her head and he approved even of the refusal.

"That is splendid! You did not say I was insulting you, or that you could not marry a man for money—none of the clichés of the film or the novelette! You would have disappointed me if you had."

Alison made a discovery that left her doubting her own sanity. She liked this man. She believed in his sincerity. A crooked dealer he might be, but upon a plane which was beyond her comprehension. In the last forty regions in the level of human intercourse he was beyond suspicion. She felt curiously safe with him and was worried, as one who was in the process of changing a settled opinion in the face of a prejudiced habit of thought.

He had the face of a materialist—the blue of his eyes was (Jim had told her) common to great generals and great murderers. The thick lip and fleshy nose were repellent to all that was spiritual in her. Yet she lived conscientiously in a world of men and women—she did not look for god or hero in any man. None was wholly good; none was wholly bad, except in the most artificial of dreams.

"I wonder if I know what you are thinking about."

She mistrusted him now, having a sense of his uncanny power of mind-reading.

"You are saying I wonder if he is as great a scoundrel as people like Carlton say?" How shall you measure me? It is very difficult, not because I represent greatness, but because the canvas on which I work is immense. Miss Rivers, I hoped that you were heart-free."

"I think I am," she said. "Which means that you are not. I wanted you to marry somebody I love; the sweetest nature in the world. Sometimes I have created out of confusion and chaos and shining lights and mysterious sounds. I talk like a divinity, but it is true. For years I have been looking for a wife."

He leaned forward over the desk and his voice sank.

"Shall I tell you something?"

There's DOUBLE ENJOYMENT in delicious DOUBLEMENT GUM

Every day millions find real pleasure in the genuine, long-lasting flavor of Doublemint Gum. Cool, refreshing, satisfying! Enjoy it after every meal! Millions do!

have what you wish, my dear Saul. I will raise Cain if you don't. What are you reading?"

Marling turned over the book to assure himself of the title. "The Interpretation of Dreams," he read.

"Freud! Chuck it in the waste-paper basket," scoffed Harlow.

"I don't understand it very well," admitted his companion.

"The man who can interpret other people's dreams can interpret other people's thoughts," said Harlow.

"I have been dreaming for you, Saul Marling. I dreamt a wife for you, but she would have none of it."

"A wife!" said the startled Marling, his hand trembling in his agitation. "I don't want a wife—you know that!"

Mr. Harlow lit a cigar.

"Yes—but she doesn't want a husband—I know that. Dreams, eh?"

He laughed to himself, the other man watching him curiously.

"Do you ever dream?" he asked with a timidity which was almost pathetic.

"I? Lord, yes! I dream of jokes," Marling could not understand this; this strong man had talked about "jokes" before, and when they were elaborated they had not amused anybody but Mr. Harlow.

It is a peculiar trait of the English criminal that he never describes his unlawful act or acts by grandiose terms. Crime of all kinds, especially crime against the person, is a "joke." The man who holds up a cashier has "had a joke with him"; the confidence swindler "jokes" his victim; a warehouse theft would be modestly described in the same way.

Mr. Stratford Harlow once heard the term employed and never forgot it. This cant phrase so nearly covered his own mental attitude towards his operations; a good joke would produce the same emotions of mind and body.

Once he had written to an important rubber house offering to take its entire stock at a price which would show a fair profit to the seller. The house and its affiliated concerns smelt a forged buying and the price of rubber rose artificially. He waited three months, buying everywhere but from the united companies, and one night their stores illuminated the shipping of the Mersey.

That was a very good joke indeed. Mr. Harlow chuckled for days, not because he had made an enormous fortune—the joke had to be there or the money had no value.

"I don't like your jokes," said Marling, gravely.

"I shouldn't tell you about them," said Mr. Harlow, suppressing a yawn; "but I have no secrets from you, Saul Marling. And I love testing them against your magnificent honesty. If you laughed at them as I laugh, I'd be worried sick. Come along to the roof for your walk and I'll tell you the greatest joke of all. It starts with a dinner party given in this house and ends with somebody making twenty millions and living happily ever after."

Just A Few Suggestions

On How To Keep Linn Suit Looking Clean And Fresh

Nothing is so attractive on a man in summer as a nice, clean linen suit. Here are a few suggestions as to how to keep the suit in that condition:

"Do not recline in a comfortable chair. For, if you do, the suit will soon be a mass of wrinkles. If you must sit, then sit on the edge of an upright chair."

If a grasshopper or other insect climbs up your leg, do not squish it, as this will leave a stain. Let it climb.

Do not smoke a pipe, for the ashes will fall on the front of the suit and, when you try to brush them off, they will make smudges.

Do not permit yourself to become overheated or your linen suit will be a rag. Stay in the shade and fan yourself with a palm leaf or cardboard fan.

Avoid energetic courtesies such as stooping down to pick things up or offering to carry heavy bundles for ladies.

On no account attempt to dance. Excuse yourself on the ground that you have a bad ankle.

By all means keep out of garden furniture. Say that you prefer to stand.

Keep out of all places where you might run into cinders, soot or dust. Fly to cover at the first indication of rain.

If you must use an automobile, let someone else do the driving and sit gingerly on the back seat. It is a wise precaution to spread your handkerchief where you are going to sit.

In reading a newspaper, hold it at arms' length.

If you follow these instructions carefully, it is just possible that you may wear a white linen suit for as much as fifteen minutes or half an hour before you begin to look like something the cat has dragged in—Buffalo Courier-Express.

An Old Request

Was Respected By Canadian Soldiers Clearing Ground For Camp

With the Canadian Forces some where in England—Flowers bloom today on what had been a weed-covered "happy hunting ground" for eight dogs buried years ago in a grove cemetery by a master who knew the true meaning of canine friendship.

The plot was discovered by a group of Canadian soldiers while putting into shape the grounds where they were pitching camp.

On a weather-beaten slab of stone, its lettering almost indecipherable was the following epitaph: "Good-bye, my boy who next shall own my garden spare this tiny stone that marks the spot where trouble free you sleep and dream, perchance of me."

"I hope he will, yet wherefore fret, we could not if we would forget each other. When in turn the dark shall clear my eyes your joyous bark will greet me echoing to the skies. Till then, dear loving hearts, good-bye."

The boys not only spared the tiny stone but cleared away the weeds and planted flowers from a nearby plot.

Take Every Precaution

The King and Queen Are Always Prepared For Air Raids

King George and Queen Elizabeth intend to remain in London, despite air attacks. Everything is now organized for their defence. Each day the royal air raid shelter is inspected.

Fresh water is stored by a little stove for making hot drinks and there are trays of biscuits and sweets, periodically replaced. Once a week the shelter is thoroughly warmed to prevent an accumulating dampness which might cause chills. There are chairs, a table and a desk with a telephone extension. The Queen keeps a piece of knitting and a portable battery radio set. Both the King and the Queen have warm clothes and their gaiters laid on a chair near their beds every night.

A Resourceful Butcher

A butcher at a southeast coast town collected £15 (£67) for the Red Cross Society when two of his chickens were killed by machine gun bullets from an enemy plane during an air battle along the coast. He auctioned off one for £10 and raffled the other for £5.

Hundreds of tons of metal railings and old bandstands from London's parks are being scrapped to go into the war effort. Private owners are encouraged to contribute old fencing.

Pasteurization of milk slightly reduces the vitamin C content.

Receives No Salary

Master Of Royal Mint Is Not Paid For That Job

The Master of the Royal Mint, head of Britain's money-making department, gets no salary. That is because he is also Chancellor of the Exchequer. The two jobs have been joined for 70 years. Other little-known facts about the country's money matters can be found in the newly published Civil Estimates. For instance, the Government spent £27,804 on hospitality last year. This year they estimate only for £16,665 a war-time saving. The House of Commons will cost £653,900 to run next year, the House of Lords £183,327. Peers receive no salary and no travelling expense, but M.P.'s will cost £372,000 this year on these accounts. The House of Commons employs no housemaids, but the House of Lords budgets for 17 of them, at wages of from 22s. 6d. to 28s. a week.

Do not smoke a pipe, for the ashes will fall on the front of the suit and, when you try to brush them off, they will make smudges.

HOME SERVICE

EXTRA POUNDS MELT AWAY IF YOU COUNT CALORIES

Watch Out For Fattening Foods That a teeny-weeny bit" sighs Mrs. Plump when the hostess offers a tempting dish.

Poor Mrs. Plump thinks that by taking little helpings, avoiding "seconds" she'll get slim. But that's not the way it works. To reduce you cut down calories, not portions, because foods vary in calory content.

For less than the 435 calories in one modest serving of Brown Betty with hard sauce you could have a whole delicious luncheon of low-calory foods. Tomato and shrimp salad with reduced's mayonnaise is only 60 calories; two slices melba toast, 80; and 1/2 cantaloupe, 50. Only 190 calories.

By just keeping your calories down to 1,200 a day you lose 2 pounds a week and win a calory chart to show you how you'll learn to pass up dishes like split pea soup (167 calory) and a cup of tomato soup with tomato sauce (225 a cup). Instead take consommé (25 a cup), tomato stuffed with bread crumbs and ham (100 calories).

Shows No Damage

Photograph Of Vimy Memorial Was Taken From Air

The Vimy Memorial in France has not suffered any war damage that can be seen from the air, Prime Minister King announced in the House of Commons.

He read a brief cable from the British air ministry stating an aerial photograph of the monument recently taken "does not show any damage."

British Tommies returning to England in June from Dunkirk told the Canadian Press war correspondent that the Vimy Memorial, Edwin S. Johnson, that the Vimy Ridge Memorial had been shattered by German bombers.

They said they saw the wreckage of the memorial with its twin shafts that towered 140 feet over the plain of Douai. They said also the bombers deliberately wrecked Canadian, British and French cemeteries nearby.

The Germans subsequently denied the stories and said the memorial was undamaged.

English farming districts have been equipped with hand fire-fighting equipment for use in case the grain crops are set afire by German bombs from raiding planes.

Dangerous For Food

People Should Head Warning Against Using Oil Cans

It has been brought to the attention of the Dominion Department of Agriculture that many people are making use of oil cans for the canning of foods.

The use of oil cans for food is considered to be very dangerous practice since they are made of Teme plate, a plating which is almost wholly lead, and very small amounts of lead are poisonous.

Cans made expressly for food are entirely different and can be bought at a nominal price from hardware stores and mail order houses. Years of research have gone into the manufacture of cans for canning food, with the result that the inside plating is lead free. This is done to make it impossible for foods to become contaminated with lead, and no cans should be used for fruits, vegetables, meats or fish other than those made as food cans.

Oil cans are not food cans and should not be used for any food product.
